

FAX THROUGH EMAIL

NetX Fax

A quick to set up and simple to use messaging tool that turns your email account into a fax machine.

Many industries still rely upon fax technology as it is considered a legally binding transaction. It is a simple technology that proliferates everywhere, integrates with existing technologies simply and is highly secure.

What is NetX Fax?

NetX Fax is a hosted solution from Britannic that enables you to send a Fax from your email account and receive Fax messages in your inbox as a PDF.

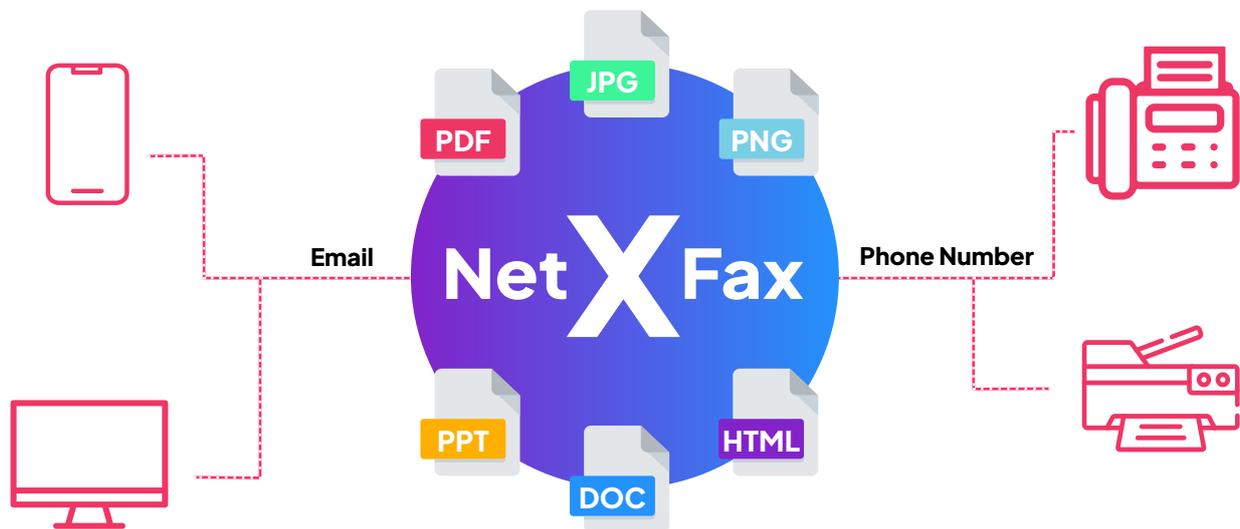

All that is required is a dedicated line that, through our NetX platform, is aligned with an email address (group or individual) enabling inbound and outbound services converting faxes to emails and emails to fax.

Key features

These include low cost, auto resend (up to 3 times), international coverage, personal fax number, use of existing numbers, delivery to individuals or groups, quick and easy set up, secure and flexible, supporting home workers and mobiles and electronic storage and retrieval.

How does NetX Fax work?

NetX Fax intercepts the transmissions that would traditionally be delivered to your fax machine and delivers the message to your email account—individual or group. All you need to do is register the number with the service, along with the email address.

Why NetX Fax?

Simply being able to send a fax via email has some further advantages. It reduces associated costs of sending a fax and the time spent sending one. Removing the need to print and send the document through a fax machine reduces your carbon footprint too.

Receiving a fax directly to your mailbox also dramatically simplifies the process. Tethering the fax line to multiple email inboxes means you can ensure that vital messages are always seen and acted upon whilst removing the management burden from an individual. It also enables the fax to be stored quickly as an electronic document and provides full audit trail and increased security.

NetX Fax is also highly flexible on costs and applications, allowing you to choose as many lines and email addresses as you need. To find out more or to register for a trial contact us on the number below.
